City reorganizes; Taub appointed City Clerk

When Lemon Grove's first City Clerk, Karen Thomson Huff, retired, the city went through a reorganization, and City Manager Jack Shelver assumed the city clerk's position. Now, after some council members expressed concern that they might have piled too much on one person, the city has gone through another reorganization, which once again separates the position of city clerk and city manager.

Christine Taub, who previously had worked for Huff, became administrative services director, finance director and city treasurer in the first reorganization almost two years ago. In the latest switch, the position of administrative services director has been dropped and Taub picks up the city clerk title instead. The additional responsibilities come with a pay raise of $4,000.

The reorganization also included assigning the personnel technician to the city manager's department from administrative services while adding a records clerk position and dropping the position of council services clerk. If all this is clear as mud, call Taub or Shelver and ask whose on first base!

The council took action on two longtime traffic safety problems. They agreed to reduce the speed limit on San Miguel Avenue from 35 to 25 miles per hour between Lemon Grove Avenue and Federal. They also agreed put a traffic signal at the intersection of Palm and Golden avenues.

The council held a hearing on establishing a procedure to enforce the conditions of conditional or minor use permits issued by the city. The proposed zoning amendment will provide for public hearings regarding violations, with the city canceling the permit if the council deems it necessary for health or safety reasons.

The council approved two recommendations from the Planning Commission - one allowing temporary signs by businesses with service bay frontage, and the other adopting the county's hazardous waste management plan rather than creating one specifically for Lemon Grove.

Upon recommendation of Les Ruh, city engineer, the council agreed to allow the pipeline contractor to change his working hours from 8 - 4 p.m. to 7 - 7 p.m., hoping that he will finish about six weeks sooner.

Water rates expected to double by year 2000

The message was loud and clear: No matter how much it rains from now on, Helix Water District rates are expected to double by the year 2,000!

This was the core message at a joint meeting on Tuesday of the Helix Water District and La Mesa City Council aimed at reviewing water and sewer issues.

Helix Water District Administrative Manager Don Kuhl attempted to answer the seeming contradictions of higher rates accompanying more plentiful water. "There are reasons for water cost beyond climate," he explained. New and costly water facilities are needed, environmental and regulatory factors add to cost and the cost of developing new sources of water is ongoing. As a result, the costs of water coming from the Metropolitan Water District are constantly on the rise to defray those processes.

Kuhn said that, despite having to import water from hundreds of miles away, Southern Californians' costs are in the middle range on a national comparison. "We are living now off the foresight of those who went before us," he stated, referring to such early efforts as the Colorado River Aqueduct. Kuhl stated that the first Helix Water District rate increase will come this July and that it will result, not from drought factors, but from various district capital-improvement costs. He said the Helix Water District is a major payer of the state water project and that charges continue whether or not water is delivered at any one time.

He expressed the hope that the district's rate increase could be somewhat minimized due to the local supply, which is currently "ample."

Chief Engineer Don Kaiser reported that the Helix Water District has not imported water for several weeks and has instead been using supplies from El Capitan Reservoir.

The Helix Water District receives water from Cuyamaca Reservoir and Lake Jennings, in addition to El Capitan, and with those storage areas at a 10-year high, the district expects no difficulty in water delivery in 1993.

There is a New Horizon in town

The New Horizon Missionary Baptist Church now occupies the former site of the La Terraza Restaurant on Sweetwater Way.

by Lindy Magner

A former restaurant on Sweetwater Way which fell into disrepair after its doors closed several years ago has reopened as a church.

Now, with a pristine coat of white paint trimmed in blue, the building is serving a congregation of about 65, who are elated to finally have a place to worship which they can eventually purchase.

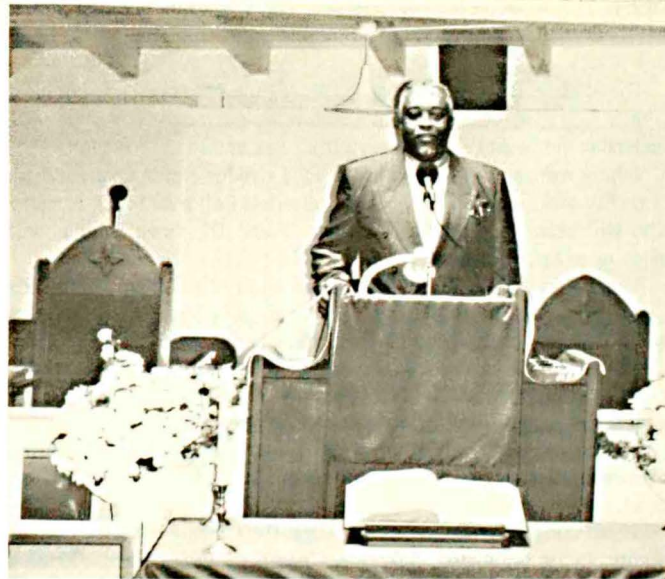

"I've never seen them so ecstatic," said Rev. William Charles, pastor of the New Horizon Missionary Baptist Church which he organized a decade ago.

Though such interior construction as the completion of a small conference room and the addition of a bathroom won't be completed for another two weeks, services have been held in the sanctuary since early January.

Since its inception, the church held services in leased space at Bayview Baptist Church on Skyline Drive. However, when that church needed the space it was leasing to New Horizon, Charles found himself feverishly searching for a new home.

"I was concentrating on Lemon Grove, trying to find a place; a shopping center had turned me down - they didn't want a church in there. Then, I stumbled on this place," he said.

According to Charles, local merchants are pleased that a neighboring building once covered with graffiti is now clean and in use.

The Rev. William Charles is shown in the pulpit of his new church facility. The church was granted a conditional use permit to use the structure as a church, with the sanctuary limited to a total of 65 persons. Charles and his congregation have already improved the appearance of the building and grounds.

"They praise the fact that there's a church here. Graffiti was all over the building and transients were sleeping in the basement. Now, there's someone here almost every day and we have it lit up real nice at night," he said.

Several weeks ago, the Planning Commission granted Charles a conditional use permit allowing him to operate the former La Terraza Restaurant as a church.

Since then, Charles has "spent a lot of money" making improvements.

"Having been vacant for over two years, the place was in a state of disarray," he said, adding that improvements include a heating system, carpeting and ceiling fans.

According to Charles, New Horizon Missionary Baptist is a branch of the Southern Baptist Church and contributes to numerous Baptist missions as well as conducts its own donation drives.

"Every month, we send bags of rice to Haiti and take clothing downtown for the homeless."

He is most proud of his youth fellowship programs which are held Friday nights.

"We want to keep kids away from gangs and drugs," he said.

Services are held at 10 a.m., with evening services at 5:30 p.m. and Sunday School at 9:30 a.m.

B-Words Personal comments of Councilman Bob Burns

Town meetings

It has been over 10 years since the last "town meeting" was held here in Lemon Grove.

It is a subject that is always very important when we have candidates making promises during election campaigns, but seems to quickly be forgotten after the polls close. We hear the entreaties to the public to "tell us what they want done" in their town with the implications that they will be listened to, but always prior to an election. I have asked, and even insisted, that such a forum is long overdue in Lemon Grove.

Under the Brown Act, it is considered illegal to discuss any topic that has not been fully noticed and agendized prior to a public meeting. This stifles somewhat the spontaneous and innovative input from the grassroots of any community. I am informed that a survey will be conducted to ascertain the questions and the issues that concern Lemon Grovans, and a serious attempt will be made to cover them all in a legal fashion.

Since I have been involved with the city longer than anyone presently in office or on staff, I have a list that I would submit as a beginning. I certainly do not think that I know of all the inner workings of the minds and hearts of our citizens, but over the years I have listened to my many friends and detractors in the city with the best climate on earth.

1. The ability of the people to choose their own mayor has long been a concern to many. With this question to be forthcoming on the June '94 ballot, it should be addressed in open forum.

2. The issue of our city being "business friendly" and its effect upon the economic condition of our town and the benefits that business affords to every resident. The sign ordinance has many flaws according to some business owners, and possibly needs to be more flexible or reasonable in enforcement.

3. Also, the business license structure may be not the most fairly calculated in the overall picture of what is best for both business and resident.

4. Graffiti is a maddening ulcer in the gut of most every person, but the solution eludes us.

5. Crime: What is the best tack to take? More punishment, more police, or more responsibility in the home? Instead of pointing the finger at someone else to solve the problem, should we not better look to ourselves? How about deputizing every able-bodied person in town as "town constables?"

6. The pre-emption of public opinion in the naming of parks and public buildings by the five council members has caused quite a stir. What should the policy be in this regard?

7. District elections are held in many cities with the council members elected by specific segments of the city. Are we large enough for that, and would it benefit Lemon Grove?

8. What different priorities should be given to the expenditure of money. More public works, recreation, arts, City Hall staffing, or public safety?

9. Redevelopment. Are we proceeding in the right direction and in the right manner with the expenditure of staff time and money to bring business into our town? Are there other options that we have not explored?

10. Should annexation be a serious consideration in that there are unincorporated areas adjoining our city to the east?

These are a few of the issues that I can come up with to be discussed at a town meeting if there is sufficient interest in them. I repeat, it is long-past the time for a town meeting. After many promises, it is time to get off the dime and do it.

Scholarships target Hispanics

McDonald's HACER (Hispanic American Commitment to Education Resources) program, together with the San Diego County Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and Ronald McDonald Children's Charities (RMCC-SD), will award 50 local, graduating Hispanic high-school students with a $1,000 scholarship to be used toward their higher education.

"McDonald's HACER program was created to address one of the most important issues among Hispanic Americans today - education," said Ernie Sandoval, president of RMCC-SD. "We support this program in an effort to help encourage Hispanic students to stay in school and improve their level of education."

Established on a national level in 1985, the HACER program was launched locally in 1990. This year the San Diego County Hispanic Chamber of Commerce joins the effort.

McDonald's HACER applications have been distributed to San Diego County high school scholarship counselors and are also available at San Diego County McDonald's restaurants and the chamber offices.

The application deadline is April 15, 1993. To be eligible for this scholarship, the student must be a United States citizen or permanent resident with at least one parent who is of Hispanic origin. Applicants must graduate from high school between May and June 1993, and plan to attend an accredited college or university in the United States, as a full-time student for the 1993/94 academic year.

For more information, call 236-1332.

Friends of the Lemon Grove Library Newsletter

FRIENDS HAVE FRIENDS THROUGHOUT COUNTY - AND STATE - AND ENTIRE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The Friends of the Lemon Grove Library are mainly Lemon Grove residents, people who use, support, and love our library. Most of the other branch libraries in San Diego County have similar groups.

There is a statewide organization of Friends of California Libraries, and also a national group. Common interests of all these Friends include presenting information to our own communities, increasing participation, and providing financial support and human resources to our libraries.

Priorities in Lemon Grove have included financial support of the children's summer reading program, purchase of new books for circulation, and assistance with staff needs. We provide a small fund for staff to use in purchasing "extras" for patrons' use (such as tissues for sniffily noses). The drinking fountain, the blinds that keep out the summer sun, holiday decorations were all gifts from the Friends of the Lemon Grove Library.

The Friends ask the community's support by their annual dues ($7 per person or $10 per family). Our other main source of funds is book sales, when we ask everyone to bring in their old books. The Friends then resell them to new owners at very reasonable prices.

Our membership year runs from January through December. If your name does not appear, please rush immediately to the Lemon Grove Library, put your name on a membership form, attach a check, and feel good about yourself; you are a "giver," not just a taker.

Elizabeth Lane is our representative to state and national library groups, as well as the person who maintains library patrons' file of "cents-off" coupons.

Ron Day is really an artist but he doubles as a sign-maker when we need one. Some of his art is now displayed in the library community room.

Dorothy Geldreich is a good correspondent who knows the names of all members and acknowledges all with individual notes. She is secretary of the Friends and produces the most complete minutes ever written.

Ann Conrad was the library's branch manager for years and is now vice-president of the Lemon Grove Friends. She is an inveterate reader, the source of advice as to books we might purchase, and a donator of many, many books to the library.

Laura Barrett and Loy Holmquist have both been members of the Friends longer than anyone else. They were part of the original group here in Lemon Grove and kept it going for years. When the present Friends group came into being in 1986, they became part of it and have done holiday decorations and luncheon-planning ever since, as well as providing their memories of how things started in the original Friends. Laura is our treasurer and her very neat garage stores much of our book sale paraphernalia.

Dwight and Rosemary Putnam are both outgoing, friendly people who are apt to walk up to strangers and have them dear friends within minutes. Rosemary has enthusiasm and ideas and is the new president of the Friends of the Lemon Grove Library. Dwight is a worker and resource at all events and also a reviewer of books for the newsletter.

Mary Vinson is "the type-writer," editor of the newsletter, reviewer of books, book sale participant, an unofficial public relations and publicity-seeker for the Friends.

Verla Humphrey was treasurer for our reactivated group and is always counted on for help with the sorting and categorizing of books for the book sales. Her sweet smile can be counted on, no matter how hectic the activity.

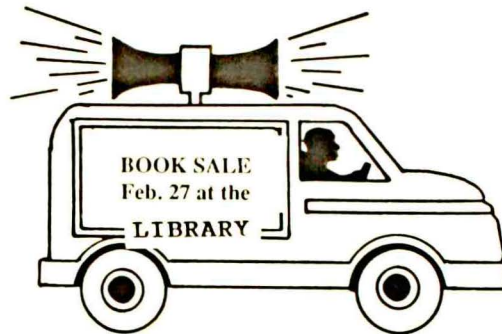

Jack Moore is quiet but versatile, a public-spirited man who appears when he is needed. He has packed books, set up book sale tables, produced ideas during think-sessions, and presents the need for library support at public meetings in the community.

There are many Friends who remain anonymous but who support the group with their dues and who appear as needed, donating books, supporting the book sales, dropping an occasional note or suggestions or a thank-you in the Friends' box at the library.

Here's a big THANK YOU back at all of you!

IN MEMORY OF TRACY BROOKS

Tracy Brooks was 81 when he died last June. He had served the Friends well during his years in Lemon Grove, was president of our group at the time of his death, and had presided over our booth at the Old Time Days celebration in May. He was an interesting, knowledgeable, capable, caring person and is still sorely missed. Contributions made to a fund established in his name by the Friends of the Lemon Grove Library are being used for purchase of books. Tracy had a special interest in wildlife and also particularly enjoyed trips down into Mexico with his family. We think that he would have approved of the books received so far. More are coming. You'll find a plate in the front of each book, identifying it as a memorial to Tracy Brooks.

MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Special thanks to all of you who have already joined "Friends of the Library."

This year we'd like to focus on community involvement as well as increasing our individual and family memberships.

It would be so great if our local businesses, service clubs and social organizations would become members of our group. Together, we can maintain a first-class library.

QUICK REVIEWS OF

Reviewers are Dwight Putnam and Mary Vinson

"Sleeping Beauty" by Judith Michael

A vulnerable, teen-aged girl runs away from her wealthy family when she is abused by a family member and then not believed when she finally tells. Through the miracle of fiction, alone and without money at age 15, she becomes educated, glamorous, a highly-successful, financially-secure attorney, though without emotional ties to anyone. In midlife, she returns to her family and is swept into battle for control of the family business, as well as into emotional conflict with her childhood tormentor. I found it tedious. 6.8 MV

"The Master Stroke" by Elizabeth Gage

As in her previous pair ("Glimpse of Stocking" and "Pandora's Box"), Ms. Gage (pseudonym) continues her chronicling of revenge, rich, rotten, come-uppances, bed-hopping, side plots, while heading to a hoped for (more or less expected) happy conclusion. This should keep you quite interest-bound to hang through perusal of this novel. I wondered if the IBM vs. Apple computer struggle could have prompted her composing motive in this captivating tale. I'm fairly certain of your concurrence in my 9+ area assigned evaluation. DP

"The Drummer was the First to Die" by Liza Pennywitt Taylor

Based on a true story, this is a medical thriller about the 1854 cholera epidemic which erupted in India and traveled west to London. Dr. John Snow, in London, has dedicated himself to discovering the source of this devastating disease. India-born Lillian Aynsworth, her father dead from cholera, has left India and gone to London, but the disease follows her. The two discover each other, and, together, risk their lives, reputations, and livelihoods in an attempt to find the source of the contagion. The search moves from upper-class residences and social events to the heat-choked city's whorehouses and most grim tenements. 8.5 MV

"Happy Endings" by Sally Quinn

Here is a novel of some 600 pages where, in the first chapter, we see our heroine's husband, who happens to be our president, assassinated. Add to that fact that she and her closest friend, girl type, have clashed and parted ways over, yes, a man they both have loved.

Believe me, as the story gets more and more involved, so do your feelings that this may become the most "mis-titled" book in history. Fully two-thirds of the way through, I wondered aloud to my wife, "No way can Sally Quinn work this one out."

Newspaper, TV, medical and religious issues continue to arise and eventually combine and resolve into one fine book. Research on all of the foregoing has been thorough and beautifully presented. This also includes several rather, as we say, "explicit" sex sessions equally distributed among our most important personages.

I recommend that you drive "quickly, but carefully" to your nearest book source for an easy "10" creation, in my opinion. DP

"Pandora's Box" by Elizabeth Gage

Ms. Gage continues to whet your interest quickly in the beginning and retain same at a high level throughout. She shifts, character to character, but writes enough to complete each situation before shifting away, so one is able to maintain clear focus and all develops its pattern without loss of reader continuity. Of course, dealing with each protagonist through obsession, sin, and seduction works in the author's favor as maintaining my attention.

It is rather timely, also, since we have recently experienced political campaigning and elections. Revealing whether the bad guys lost, won or tied would spoil your 800+ pages. I recommend that you give it a shot, and assign in a strong 9.7 on my little readability scale. DP

"Bright Shark" by Robert Ballard/Tony Chiu

This author out of Woods Hole (comparable to San Diego's Scripps Institute of Oceanography) discovered the Titanic, so he really knows deep-ocean searching and its terminology.

This is a tale of nuclear intrigue, with Israeli, Greek, and U. S. governments all involved. Mix in feminine and regular Navy intrigue and you come up with quite a story. Naturally, the Russian Bear is involved, so all goes great for an interesting, light, entertaining day or two. Nothing really earth-shattering or derogatory comments necessary to shake a solid 8.5 on my "Richter" scale. DP

Connolly thanks supporters

Dear Editor:

Now that the Assembly session is in full swing, I want to take a moment to thank the voters of the 77th District.

I recognize that holding office is a sacred trust and honor, and I pledge my best effort to serve the people of the district.

There are many challenges facing our state, including multiple hardships for education, spiraling crime rates, shrinking resources, growing unemployment, and the need to reduce government waste and bureaucracy.

We must stimulate the economy by streamlining the building permit process, reforming Workers Compensation laws and by creating economic incentives that encourage investment in new and expanding businesses.

We must work to balance the budget by increasing jobs and decreasing dependence on public services.

Every degree of mind and spirit I possess is dedicated to achieving these ends, and with your help, we will succeed.

Tom Connolly
